Kenya's Child Vulnerability Landscape

An estimated 3.6 MILLION children in Kenya are classified as orphaned and vulnerable

Up to 250,000 children are living or working on the streets

1.13 million primary-age children are not attending school.

Who We Are

Inuka Childcare Center is a community-based orphanage in Kenya dedicated to providing a loving and stable home for vulnerable children, especially orphans and children from disadvantaged backgrounds. More than just shelter, we offer care, education, mentorship, and emotional support, ensuring every child has the opportunity to grow and thrive.

What began as a humble home for a few children has grown into a thriving center of care. Our mission is to create a nurturing environment where every child can grow into a healthy, educated, and empowered adult. We are rooted in compassion, and we strive to restore hope, dignity, and opportunity where it's been lost. Together, we're creating brighter futures—one child at a time.

Our method

EDUCATION ACCESS

Our in-house school provides free education to over 100 children (both those in our orphanage and disadvantaged kids from the wider community) covering early childhood to primary education. For older students, we partner with local schools to ensure smooth transitions into higher levels of learning.

This program is made possible through the generous support of Adrian Fenix of Eon Rush Studios, whose commitment sustains a nurturing environment where children gain not only quality education but also the confidence and resilience to shape brighter futures for themselves and their communities.

STEM AND DIGITAL LITERACY

Our Eon Rush digital hub introduces children to essential age appropriate digital skills like animations, graphics design, coding and comprehensive STEM education, giving them early exposure to technology that is critical in today's world. The hub serves both the children in our orphanage and kids from the surrounding community. The hub provides access to online educational resources such as Khan Academy, enabling learners to complement their classroom studies and develop a love for self-driven learning. By bridging the digital divide, we foster curiosity and creativity, thereby preparing our children to thrive in an increasingly digital future.

LIFELINE EDUCATION AND EMPOWERMENT

We support children under our care with vocational training programs and other practical skills such as gardening to help them build self-reliance and confidence for the future. We also nurture creativity and physical well-being through sports, arts, and crafts, while instilling discipline and leadership. To broaden horizons, we organize educational trips that give children exposure beyond their immediate environment, opening their eyes to new opportunities and possibilities. Together, these experiences empower our children with the knowledge, resilience, and character they need to thrive.

Our JOURNEY

Inuka childcare center started as a small personal project born out of compassion to cater for 3 stranded orphaned kids. Through the support of a community church, our first three kids received material support and education support while residing primarily with Gladys kache, our founder. Their progress and transformation was an inspiration to rescue more vulnerable kids from the streets and offer them shelter and care. From such humble beginning, Inuka childhood center has grown as an orphanage that currently takes care of 54 vulnerable kids. We also run an early childhood education center born out of a desire to cut cost on school fees. This center also caters for other disadvantaged children in our community. Our early childhood education center is free for children in our orphanage and disadvantaged children from the community.
